A fragment of a topographic map showing contour lines. A road is depicted as a thick black line, and a stream is shown as a thin, winding line. The map is oriented with the road running from the top-left towards the right. The contour lines are closely spaced, indicating a steep slope. The number '305' is printed at the bottom left, with a line pointing to a specific contour line. The text '2747' is at the top left, 'TWD67' is at the top right, and '經建三' is below it.
